

LAW

Embedding of legal knowledge and understanding and wider research tasks:

- 1) Always read through the chapter in the textbook on each topic and add any points you may have missed to your notes. If you have any areas you do not understand, write your questions and raise the points in lessons.
- 2) For each topic produce a Key Word Plan/spidergram/your own knowledge organiser of the key points as a revision aid
- 3) For the cases, produce case cards/case tables that include the following:

The case name

A picture representation of the case

A few 'trigger words' about the case

The decision in the case

- 4) Produce quizzes on the topics with the answers on a separate piece of paper. Test yourself on these questions.
- 5) Look at the potential exam questions set out in your handbook. Plan what you would include in these answers.
- 6) Access the websites on the academy sixth form law page. Test yourself with the online quizzes and games that some of the sites have EG ELAWRESOURCES
